CLAY COUNTY

Comes to the Front With Another of Her Famous Shooting Scrapes.

PORTO RICO'S EXCITEMENT

Mob of Natives Besieged School Superintendent Three Hours and Made Demonstration Against Americans.

SAY THAT HE MISTREATED A GIRL

London, March 8.—Another of Kentucky's famous fends has been reported. During the recent recess at Manchester, this county, yesterday, the two Garrard boys were in Attorney Kash's office filing bond for the release of Julie Webb, charged with the murder of Charles Hall, which several shots were fired from the court house, which is just across the street, by the friends. "Tell Garrard's hat was pierced by the first shot and the Garrard boys returned the fire. About sixty shots were fired from the court house and the windows in the law office were completely shattered and the occupants had many narrow escapes. There is great excitement in the town today and loudhulled is expected at any moment.

San Juan, Porto Rico, March 8.—A mob of natives besieged School Superintendent Armstrong for three hours last night and made threatening demonstrations against all Americans because they claimed the superintendent had mistreated a girl pupil. The charge is untrue. The crowd was so threatening that the American artillerymen were called to disperse them.

NOT RUNNING FOR SENATOR

Hon. Ollie M. Jones, of Marion, who has often been mentioned as a Democratic candidate for congress in this district, and recently as a candidate for United States senator, has given out a statement that he will not be a candidate for the senatorship.

A DUKE'S UNCO

SCOTCH HUNTER

From the London Mainly About People

On a hunting expedition the Grand Duke of Saxe-Weimar saw a forester whose face seemed familiar to him. "Are you not a brother of Chief Inspector Schmidt?" asked the duke. "I am Chief Inspector Schmidt," said the man. "Ah," said the duke, "that accounts for the resemblance!" Another time the grand duke was waiting at a small railway station in his tiny realm, and addressing two little girls playing near the signal box asked: "Who is your father?" "The station master." "How old are you?" "I am 8 and my sister 4, Serenissima."

"How is that possible? Why, the line has only been opened three years."

The year's tendency to Encephalitis. The year when a youth showed a tendency to Encephalitis, which pointed to a case of physical stamina. This disposition to physical exertion showed itself when he was visiting the queen at Balmoral, and the royal keepers were a little chagrined at the lack of enthusiasm which he displayed with regard to the deer stalking arranged for his diversion.

A BIG DEAL

The Mayfield Woolen Mills Absorbs the "Old Kentucky Mills," a Louisville Concern.

WILL REMOVE TO ST. LOUIS

The Big Mills Are Doing a Fine Business in St. Louis and Will Enlarge the Plant.

THE CAPITAL TO BE INCREASED ALSO

The Mayfield Woolen Mills of Mayfield and St. Louis have procured an option on the Old Kentucky mills of Louisville. The papers concluding the transfer will probably be signed today.

The Mayfield Woolen mills moved their salesroom from Mayfield to St. Louis last April, and their main office in October. The proprietors are so favorably impressed with the advantages of St. Louis as a distributing center that they have purchased the Louisville establishment and will remove the plant and such machinery as is available, to St. Louis. They propose to secure a site of from two to four acres and construct a large woolen factory. The buildings just purchased occupy a site a little in excess of two acres.

The present capital stock of the Mayfield Woolen mills is $300,000, about one-half that amount surplus. Plans are under way to increase the capital stock to a sum not less than $600,000.

A DAILY THOUGHT.

Write it on your heart that every day is the best day in the year. No man has learned anything rightly until he knows that every day is Doomsday.—Emerson.

"PUBLIC JOURNALS AND PULPIT MORALS."

The Register of yesterday morning devotes a column and a half to a minutely detailed account of one of the most repulsive and degraded incidents of immorality that has ever come to our notice.

The Register's descriptions were so painstakingly vivid that, to one having read it, there was left in the nostrils, a stench that could only be compared to that pervading a district but just vacated by a pair of skunks in springtime.

Having regard for the fact that the Sun circulates at the disposal of a majority of the good people of this community and that such publications

"have a tendency to stimulate unholly desires in a direction too horrible to contemplate," the whole affair was entirely ignored by this paper. That such malefactors should be promptly and fully punished, should admit of denial on the part of nobody, but the officers of the law are an agency surely capable and we believe fully willing to properly deal with the case.

The Register reminds us of the accredited reputation of the professional Procureur. Not content with its own lack of virtue, it must rave because its neighbors are not of similar cast.

If it is good newspaper enterprise to enlarge on incidents like the Overly case, then The Sun is not a good newspaper.

Kentucky is being held up by the Democratic organs of some of the other states as a "horrible example" of the destructive effects of legislation enacted for the sole purpose of perpetuating in power a political machine. Since the Democratic party in Kentucky began to pass special legislation for partisan ends, of which the infamous Geobel law was the culmination, that party has steadily lost strength and prestige until now it is compelled to rely upon ballot box rackets and election thefts to hold itself in office. No other state in the north, west or south furnishes such an illustration of the complete demoralization of a political party as Kentucky gives in the disintegration of the Democratic party since it fell into the hands of the freebooters who are now in the saddle.

Senatorial courtesy is about to receive a knock-out blow. As far as can be learned "senatorial courtesy" consists chiefly in the privilege that any member of the senate has of making himself as objectionable as possible without let or hindrance. It also gives to a minority the power of obstructing legislation indefinitely even though the majority is impatient to reach a vote. It is now almost certain that a cloture rule will be adopted before the Fifty-seventh congress will have been in session many weeks, which will give the majority power to force a vote after a bill has been debated a reasonable length of time. Such a rule will exactly suit the strenuous vice president who will probably in any event give the time-honored senatorial courtesy a severe jar at the very first opportunity.

Ex-Senator Lindsay follows the steps of John G. Carlisle and will practice law in the city of New York. The principle of natural selection which now governs the Democratic party of Kentucky finds its highest type of a statesman in the person of Senator Blackburn, which is an unmistakable warning to men of ability that they had better look elsewhere for recognition than to the gang that is now shaping the political destiny of this state and incidentally shielding gamblers and other violators of law from punishment.

The beginning of hose manufacture at the knitting mills this week was an event of the greatest importance to Paducah. In order that any city may attain the greatest success in its citizens may attain to the greatest general prosperity, there must be work for every person who desires to work. This work cannot be furnished if manufacturing is confined to one or two lines of business, or if none but men and boys are employed, while the women who desire work cannot find it. The establishment in Paducah of the Cobankus Mfg. Co. gave this city her first textile plant and furnished the first opportunity for the employment of many women. Since the establishment of that plant the pants factory has been established and now another one is soon to be put in operation. The knitting mills will also give employment to a large number of women. Thus Paducah will soon have in operation four plants making textile goods and clothing and giving steady and desirable employment to women.

The steel manufacturers of England are in a panic over the effects of American competition. The formation of the great steel trust by Carnegie and others has only added to the industrial depression and further invasions of the English market by American steel are awaited with dread. One of the leading labor leaders of England, who is also a member of parliament, recently made the startling admission that although wages in America are double those of the English workmen, yet the cost of the labor in making a ton of steel in the United States is only one half the cost in England.

The farmers are now having a picnic watching the antics of the candidates for county offices who are giving a continuous performance for the delectation of the rural voter. It is said that never before has such an aggregation of talent been turned loose in Western Kentucky as is now "loosed" around through McCreckan county willing to accept any old thing in the shape of a vote.

It now develops that the action of Senator Carter in talking the river and harbor bill to death was by no means a patriotic move but merely a piece of revenge, and some other western senators being disappointed because an appropriation had been made for beginning the work of governmental irrigation in the arid districts of the west.

The Democratic newspapers, some of them, are indulging in lengthy dissertations on the "coming candidate for 1904," who will be he and what ought he to be like. But to the mean time the editor of the Commonwealth in Lincoln, Neb., is busily keeping himself before the public and when 1901 comes he will be on hand.

It is now claimed that the action of Governor Beckham in pardoning Alvey and the other gamblers was not done as payment of an election debt as some have very uncharitably supposed, but simply to establish once for all his sanction of the exalted principle of competition in gambling.

Newspaper men are always useful and good things to fall back on. Robert S. McCormack, managing editor of the Chicago Times Herald, has just been appointed minister to Austria and Mr. Yerkes selects a popular Danville newspaper man for his confidential clerk.

When Mrs. Nathan was in Paducah recently she visited the Great Western distillery, the largest in the world, and read the manager a severe lecture on his perverse ways. But at the latest accounts he had not resigned his position.

It is said that the defeat of the river and harbor bill and of the ship subsidy bill caused the Fifty-ninth congress to close with more "congressmen" than any previous congress for many years.

Coffee is bad for the health, so the rumored coffee combination should not bother the average citizen.

"Fancy has the head that wears a crown." Emperor William got in the check yesterday.

Newspapers may come and newspapers may go but The Sun will remain forever.

The senators will find "Tobey" a serious proposition before it is done.

The Beers got in some more telling work yesterday.

IN THE PHILIPPINES

The letter from Judge Taft, head of the Philippine commission to Secretary Root, contains much interesting reading. Peace seems near at hand. The federal party, an avowed and direct outgrowth of the election, has spread with wonderful rapidity in all parts of the archipelago and is active and urgent in its advocacy of peace and presenting the advantages of civil liberty under American sovereignty. It was also instrumental in securing surrenders in Pinar.

The commission has organized a number of provincial governments and is meeting with much assistance from leading men of the islands. The commission is, indeed, doing fine work and the reports are very encouraging.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional treatment. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a running sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever, unless out of time by ear surgery, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars to any one who can cure a case of deafness by ear surgery, by ear surgery, that can not be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure, send for circulars, free.

WAGE SCALE.

OPERATORS AND MIKE WORKERS STILL DISCUSSING IT AT LOUISVILLE.

The United Mine Workers and the operators of the south-western district, embracing the state of Kentucky, are still in conference discussing the wage scale which is to go into effect April 1, says the Louisville Times. Both sides are confident an agreement will be reached, but there are "many" features to discuss that it may require several days' time to bring it about.

The mine workers and operators joint committee met in the Allegheny's committee room at the city hall at 9 o'clock this morning and renewed the discussion over the scale and the hours of labor. President J. D. Wood, for the miners, has submitted the scale, which is an eight hour day, at present, and an advance of about 15 per cent. in wages. This advance was considered a reasonable demand in view of the great prosperity which has obtained in the coal trade during the past year and the encouraging outlook for the coming year. The operators submitted a proposition to increase the hours of labor by making ten hours a day's work and reducing the wages to per cent.

These two widely divergent propositions are now being discussed by the representatives of both interests. The miners feel sure of their ground, though they are willing to make some concessions. Under no circumstances, however, will they agree to less than an eight hour day.
